McMichael Contributes to Education

Blackburn College announces, through Miriam Pride, President, a donation to higher education by Miss Florence E. McMichael of Champaign, Illinois. Miss McMichael provided funding for a Biblio-File Catalog System.

This state-of-the-art system will put Lumpkin Library's card catalog on CD-ROM. This will provide new, easier public access to the library's holdings. Head Librarian Lydia

Forbes reports that the new system will be easier to use than the old card catalog. Instead of looking for the card referring to the book you want, you "just type in the words you want" and the computer will tell you where the book is.

Accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. J. Marlowe Slater, Miss McMichael visited her Blackburn home, Stoddard Hall and then spoke to Mrs. Forbes about the usefulness of her contribution.

Swine Nutrition Workshop Scheduled for September 15

Pigs can prosper on a wide variety of diets, but if you want to maximize returns and achieve optimum performance, all hog rations must be carefully formulated.

According to Paula Robinson, Extension Unit Leader, University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service, a swine nutrition workshop will be held on Wednesday, September 15.

The workshop is designed for two 3 1/2 hour sessions. The workshop will begin at 8:30 a.m. and conclude at 4:30 p.m. and will be held at the Macoupin County Extension Office.

This workshop is especially designed for pork producers who do their own on-farm feed formulation and mixing, but will be of value to all pork producers, agri-business personnel (veterinarians, feed salesmen, etc.) interested in obtaining information in swine nutrition beyond the traditional seminars that are offered.

The workshop will be taught by Dr. Gilbert Hollis, University of Illinois Extension swine specialist. Discussion will be centered around the life-cycle nutrition of the swine herd. Topics to be discussed include in-depth information on energy (fats, oils, extruded beans, etc.), protein allowances for all classes of swine (feeding barrows and gilts separately), vitamin needs (fat and water soluble vitamins, including biotin, thiamine, choline and folic acid), mineral nutrition program, and reading and understanding feed tags.

The cost of the workshop is $25 for the first individual from a pork operation. This includes the Swine Nutrition Handbook, noon meal and refreshments at break times. If more than one individual is attending from an operation, the charge is $10 for each additional person. The $10 fee includes everything except the handbook.

For additional information on the workshop, or reservations for the workshop, contact the Macoupin County Extension Service, at 217-854-9604. Registration deadline is September 9.

Hagaman Unit of Homemakers Extension Association will be meeting at 7:30 p.m. on the evening of September 2 at the home of June Heindricks. Members are reminded that dues will be collected at this meeting. Installation of officers will also be held.
