

Raúl Pérez / @enriul

Zuliano expelotero , Nelwin Oquendo , lost his life on Monday in a traffic accident, according to the team of Águilas del Zulia in a press release. The infielder, who was 38 years old, disputed his last campaign in the LVBP in 2004.

Oquendo played 56 games in the league, starting his career in Pastora de Occidente, with only 17 years old. The player gave a pair of homers in his career of five harvests, in which he wore the uniforms of Pastora de Occidente , Pastora de los Llanos and Águilas del Zulia.

Through a statement, Aguilas del Zulia said: "The board of directors, administrative staff, players, coaching staff and other members of the organization Águilas del Zulia BBC , dress in mourning and give the most sincere words of condolence to the relatives of former team player Nelwin Oquendo (RIP), who was part of our team in the seasons 2002-03 and 2003-04. We ask God that of his greatest strength to family and friends for such unfortunate loss. Peace to your soul "

Oquendo left batting average of .162 with two doubles and two homers, towing 11 runs and left the Venezuelan professional baseball with only 24 years.

Meridian

We use cookies to personalize content and ads, to provide social networking features and to analyze our traffic. We also share information about your use of our site with our social media, advertising and analytics partners that may combine it with other information that you have provided to them or that you have collected from your use of their services.

Agree

Read more