

Roland John Zwick

Roland Zwick passed away October 15, 2015 at Dominican Santa Cruz Hospital, at the age of 89. Roland was born in Scranton, Pennsylvania on January 13, 1926. He grew up in Scranton, Pennsylvania and also lived in Fair Lawn, New Jersey before moving to California where he resided in Los Altos and later Scotts Valley.

As a young man, Roland was a minor league pitcher for the Philadelphia Phillies organization. He also served in the Army Air Corp during World War II.

Following his time in the minor leagues and military service, he worked many years in the pharmaceutical and medical instrument field, later founding his own medical instrument company.

Roland was a member of San Agustin Catholic Community, Knights of Columbus, San Lorenzo Valley High School Boosters and the Monteville Board of Directors. In his spare time he enjoyed playing golf.

He is survived by his three daughters, Diane Zwick, Carol Mayeau, Debbie Kiel and two sons, Roland Zwick and Jim Zwick. He also leaves six grandchildren. Roland was preceded in death by his wife, Mary Zwick on February 8, 2008.

Private services and interment will be held. To share a remembrance or express your condolences to Roland's family, please visit www.pacificgardenschapel.com. In lieu of flowers contributions are preferred to your favorite charity.
