

Digest: Ex-Patterson Park, Orioles pitcher Jim Lehw dies at 79

From Sun staff and news services

SHARE THIS

Jim Lehw, who briefly pitched for the Orioles in 1961 and 1962, died Friday of congestive heart failure.

DECEMBER 28, 2016

Jim Lehw, who briefly pitched for the Orioles in 1961 and 1962, died Friday of congestive heart failure at his home in Grantsville. He was 79. A submarine-style reliever, Lehw starred at Patterson Park before turning pro. In eight appearances with the Orioles, he had an ERA of 1.54 before back problems ended his career.

Women's college basketball: Visiting Morgan State (2-10) suffered its fourth straight loss, falling, 54-37, to Richmond (6-7). Braennan Farrar scored nine points, including her 1,000th career point for the Bears. The Spiders led 54-37 to start the fourth quarter. ... UMBC freshman guard Tyler Moore was named America East Conference Rookie of the Week. Moore tied her career high of 19 points in a win last Wednesday.

Copyright © 2017, The Baltimore Sun, a Baltimore Sun Media Group publication | Place an Ad

This article is related to: Tyler Moore, Morgan State Bears, Richmond Spiders, America East Conference