boo often of late Hollywood and the theater men have been put in the bad light of "lack of co-operation," unwillingness to book suitable programs," "determination not to make pictures suitable for children's programs," etc.

Mr. Kalafat now offers to let any group prove to the theater men that what has failed in the past can be done successfully. After 21 attempts he simply doesn't want to be on the losing end again.

German school and yet generously flavored with nationalist elements of Weiner's native Hungary.

The last movement is a brilliant bravious showpings, while the proceeding three movements are cast with a musicianly concept which leaves one with a desire to hear the music again and to study it more closely.

Machan again last night combined that rare artistic insighe with an authoritative manner of delivery which has placed him among the foremest chamber recitalists. His is the masterly projection of the composer's every thought that causes the listener to feel he has heard the sultimate in interpretation.

The remaining two numbers on the program were the Handel Sonata in D Major and the Beethoven Sonata in G. Major.
